AGEING WELL IN DEVON

In an ageing society Devon Senior Voice (DSV) exists to promote the wellbeing and independence of older people. We speak out on the issues that matter to our 2,000-plus members – older people speaking up for older people.

We are made up entirely of volunteers in branches across Devon, apart from one part-time paid member of staff. We use our collective strengths and skills in small-scale initiatives to nurture and empower stronger communities. We believe that this way of working will help to create a county where all people feel valued and connected to each other.

By coming together we can also ensure our voices are heard by the authorities on everything that affects our quality of life: from bus services and health to housing and social care, and from loneliness and leisure facilities to relations with younger people.

Our views are drawn from our own experiences and on research evidence produced by our specialist advisory groups. Above all, we want to reach out and share good practice and new thinking on issues, and to develop imaginative solutions to the many problems facing us all.

If you wish to join, and we hope you do, please see our contact details overleaf.
